

CORRESPONDENCE

SCAPPOOSE

The school children all enjoyed a vacation while their teachers attended the institute at St. Helens. All the teachers reported the institute as being very beneficial.

Harry West's car made its appearance on the street again this week, after being laid up for repairs since his accident during the state fair.

J. J. Havlik sold seven pigs last week for the neat sum of $300.

Mrs. Gust is reported to be slowly improving.

One of the workmen at Chapman camp was hurt last Friday and taken to the Good Samaritan hospital in an automobile by Chas. Wickstrom.

Dr. and Mrs. Blatchford were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Niblock at dinner on Thursday.

Misses Ardith Hagey, Ruby Tipton and Lyle Jobin were Portland visitors Wednesday.

Mrs. J. B. Duncan, who is spending the winter with her daughter Goldie at Clatskanie, came home on Saturday, returning again Monday morning.

Mrs. Blatchford and son Frederick left on Monday for two weeks' visit with her mother, Mrs. De Graft, at Ilwaco Beach, Wash.

Miss Grimes, the eighth grade teacher, resigned to accept a position in Portland as dietitian for the Girls and Boys Aid Society. Miss Countrymen, of Bellingham, Wash., was elected to fill the vacancy.

The engagement of Miss Maud Duncan to Mr. Walter Edris, of South Dakota, has just been announced. Mr. Edris is manager of a large sawmill. The wedding will take place about the holidays.

Through the agency of our new garage people, Wickstrom-Grewell, Dennis Balch has purchased a new motorcycle.

Mrs. M. J. Butler is in Portland, under the doctor's care for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Crowley entertained the Niblock family at dinner Friday evening.

Miss Eva Garrison, Miss Fern Blackburn, Miss Ardith Hagey, Miss Maud Watts and Mrs. C. H. Johnston were guests last Friday and Saturday of Mr. Redy, superintendent of the Nehalem Timber and Logging Company. They were introduced to all the phases of camp life, from the falling of a tree to the rafting of logs in the river. They were all most enthusiastic over such a royal good time.

Victor McCone, of Portland, addressed a patriotic meeting Monday evening in Watts & Price hall, for the purpose of inspiring enthusiasm for Liberty Loan bond sales. Special music was rendered by the school.

Miss Fern Blackburn, of Portland, was the guest of Miss Eva Garrison last week. She is a pleasing violinist. On Sunday morning she played an obligato for the anthem "Holy Art Thou," Handel's "Largo" and "Calvary" for a solo, and in the evening she accompanied the anthem "Now the Day is Over," by Murray, and a plaintive melody for a solo. The music was much appreciated and enjoyed by all.

Matt Grewell is confined to his bed with a bad spell of la grippe.

Mrs. Bert Adams resigned as president of the Red Cross unit. Miss Maud Watts was appointed to take her place.

Mr. Ogden, who purchased the auto truck of Wist Brothers, has moved into Miss Maud Watts' cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruffer have returned to their home in Montana, after spending some time with Mrs. Ruffer's sister, Mrs. Laphan.

Everyone is anticipating a good time on Halloween in Watts & Price hall.

C. H. Kappers has a new Oakland car.

The largest social event held in Scappoose for a long time was the miscellaneous shower given Miss Ardith Hagey at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Sandstrom, Saturday afternoon. The house was tastefully decorated with autumn leaves, chrysanthemums and marigolds. A hundred friends gathered to wish her joy, prosperity and conjugal happiness. The numerous gifts of silver, linen, cut glass, china and personal items were enough to delight the heart of any prospective bride. Miss Hagey is to be married next month to Mr. Arch Duncan, of Tacoma, Wash., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Duncan, long time residents of this place. The shower was a complete surprise. The guests were entertained with humorous readings by Mary Metcalf, Mrs. Spaulding and Miss Ruby Tipton while awaiting Miss Hagey's return from her visit to Chapman camp. Miss Hagey is an accomplished musician, having long served the public and won their hearts by her continual cheerful and willing disposition to help in any and every way requested. After being served delicious refreshments, the guests departed, leaving Miss Hagey to enjoy the gifts all over again. This has been her second experience, a short time ago the girls, before leaving for various colleges, gave her a kitchen shower at the home of Miss Marjorie Holliday, and the Lady Macabees, at one of their meetings, presented her with a very handsome cut glass vase.

SCAPPOOSE SCHOOL BUYS LIBERTY BOND

Confectioneries, ice cream parlors and such like will be hard hit in Scappoose. Why? Because the Wednesday morning assembly brought together to hear Supt. Allen speak on food conservation was turned into a Liberty Bond meeting for the purchase of a school Liberty Bond. The purchase of a $50 bond was suggested by Miss Jessie Martin, and this seemed satisfactory until the first return showed $70 subscribed. This created more enthusiasm and soon $100 was raised.

Henceforth the teachers will not be bothered as to discipline in regard to chewing gum and eating candy in the school rooms, for there will none of these luxuries be indulged in, but the pennies will go towards the purchase of the $100 bond, the first bond bought by any Columbia county school.

Everyone can afford to buy a United States government bond. Everyone should buy one and help win the war. A first payment of ONE DOLLAR is enough to start the purchase of a $50 bond. The remainder can be paid for in easy installments over three months.

Your dollars are needed in this war for Democracy and Liberty. The war cannot be fought and won without money, any more than without men. Volunteer your dollars.

WARREN

Miss Elvira Berglund, a former pupil of the Warren school but now attending the Washington high school in Portland, spent the week end with her parents.

John Farr and family motored to Goble Sunday and visited their relatives.

Miss Signe Anderson, of Portland, was visiting at the home of her parents over Saturday and Sunday.

The Doreas Society met Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Ekstrom. There was a large attendance and several important questions were discussed but none were definitely settled. After the regular business of the meeting was finished, refreshments were served.

Danger! There is great danger of missing a good time next Saturday night if you don't come to the basket social given by Warren Grange, No. 536, which will be held in Grange hall. Come, all ye Grangers, if you want to hear stories by a brave auctioneer, etc. The Warren Grange has more young men and women members than any two Granges in the county, and they are pledged to show you a good time. A good program will open the festivities of the evening.

Mrs. L. Snider went to Vernonia last Tuesday and returned Saturday. She brought her nephew with her to spend a few days.

Miss Lisetta Warsenskie and Selma Lindquist, of Emanuel hospital, were visiting at the home of August Muhr Sunday afternoon.

Alphield and Claudia Berglund were visiting with their parents the latter part of last week. Afterwards they went to Cleveland, Wash., where the former will spend a short vacation.

Elmer and Floyd Duncan have returned from Newberg, where they have been working in a prune orchard. They report prunes to be a good crop this year.

The Warren school gave its monthly musical concert last Wednesday morning, which consisted of a few patriotic songs by the general assembly. "Vesper Song," by grammar school chorus; "Far Away," High School chorus; "Sweet Summers Gone Away," intermediate room; special selection, primary room; piano solo, "Madrilena," by Martha Ryser; vocal solo, "When You Come Home," by Prof. C. J. Russell.

O. A. Erickson and family accompanied by his parents and brothers, Irving and Walter, motored to Vancouver, where they inspected the bridge, and later, the cantonments. They reported the trip very interesting.

Prof. C. J. Russell has reported that the pledge cards of conservation of food have been signed successfully in this district. More than fifty were signed, and more are expected to be handed in the last of this week. The signers are all anxious for their emblem pins.

SERVING TIME IN A RIVER TOWN

time there is a river Masonry, to which every boat official and employee is in good standing, and the passengers are told what they want to hear—assured that everything will turn out just as they want it to go.

So I was pumped full of hope and decided to wait—or rather it was decided for me. Several others, among them my friend Wilson, were in the same fix, so we sat on the bank and watched the Alice depart.

Later I learned that the steamer was packed with locals, prisoners and court witnesses, who were going down to Holy Cross or some other official town, and that through passengers were side-tracked to give them passage.

Three days later the Sarah paddled in and our spirits revived, only to be showered batched by the official announcement that it would not leave until a boat got in from Fairbanks with some empty barges, so the passengers on board came ashore and we had some new faces for a change, so for two days more we walked the beat, fought mosquitoes and tried to pass away the hours.

After five days more of servitude it was announced that the Sarah would leave that night, and passengers could come aboard. About 50 came in from different places, and the one question was "Will we reach St. Michael in time to catch the Umatilla?" More than half of them did not care to go outside on this boat, as they were booked for the inside passage, but all were anxious to get across the bay to Nome, for as one who had made the trip before said, "Got pity us if we have to wait ten days in St. Mike."

But everyone, from the captain to the deck hands, assured us "To be sure you will catch it. If we are late she will wait—she always does." Yet there was not a man on board who knew, or would admit he did, what date the Umatilla was scheduled to sail.

Tananna was the first and only town on the Yukon river that was not going back. There wasn't much to go back there. A bakery had tried it and given up the ghost, and a jewelry store had the same appearance of waiting for a foreclosure. The Northern Commercial Co., which has branch stores in nearly every river town, had all the trade. When the six saloons are put out of business January 1, I wonder what the rough necks will do for a home. That "it will be hell" was the general verdict.

As I sat in a deck chair, waiting for the steamer to move and blot out this nightmare of a river town, a lady tourist sat down beside me and asked if this was my first trip down the Yukon.

"No, ma'am," I answered, "it is my last."
